Teacher’s Guide
PROJECT BACKGROUND

Between 2014 and 2018 Australia will commemorate the Anzac Centenary, marking 100 years since Australia’s involvement in the First World War. And in 2015, there will be a large number of activities commemorating 100 years since the Anzac Gallipoli landing.

From its association with poppies flowering in the spring of 1915 on the battlefields of Belgium, France and Gallipoli, the poppy has become a symbol of both great loss in war and hope for those left behind.

As part of a community tribute to the 2015 Anzac Commemoration, the 5000 Poppies project will be “planting” a field of more than 5000 poppies in Fed Square Melbourne as a stunning visual tribute to Australian servicemen and women for more than a century of service in all wars, conflicts and peacekeeping operations.

Sisters-in-law Lynn Berry and Margaret Knight, set what they thought was a “a challenging but achievable target” to create a display of 5,000 poppies in June 2013. “We knew that the project would resonate with a huge audience from senior citizens right down to primary school level and just about everyone in between, because the Anzac legend is such a large part of our nation’s psyche. But it would be safe to say that we had no idea just what an impact it would make”, says Lynn Berry.

The project has certainly captured the imagination of the crafting community all over the world with poppies and tributes flying in. And, having reached 5,000 target by Remembrance Day 2013 after only five months, the pair revised their target to 25,000 which they believe they will reach by the end of July 2014. “In reality, the total will be more likely around 40,000 to 50,000”, says Lynn Berry.

1914+ POPPIES- GEELONG

As a satellite project of the 5000 poppies initiative we are calling on the Geelong community to create 1915 poppies (or more) to be exhibited at the National Wool Museum between February and May next year as part of a larger exhibition.

The poppies must be handmade, of any material, red and less than 15cm in diameter. Included in this package are some sample patterns you can use to create your poppy or create your own design. There is no fee to enter a poppy, no limit on the number of poppies you can create, and all poppies will be displayed. Poppies are being collected from 2 August 2014 - 31 January 2015.

In Flanders Fields

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

Lt. Col. John McCrae, May 1915

John McCrae was a medical officer with the Canadian Forces. He was born in Guelph, Ontario, Canada in 1872 and studied at the University of Toronto. From 1899 to 1904 McCrae served with the Canadian Field Artillery, including overseas in the South African War. When Britain declared war on Germany in August of 1914, McCrae was among the first to enlist with the Canadian forces. He was appointed brigade-surgeon to the First Brigade of the Canadian Field Artillery with the rank of Major and second-in-command. In April 1915 Major McCrae was stationed near Ypres, Belgium (the area known as Flanders) during the Battle of Ypres. It was here that he wrote his poem, following the death of a close friend and as the wild poppies began to bloom between simple, makeshift graves. McCrae died of pneumonia in January 1918, months before the end of the war. His poem became the most famous poem of the First World War.

The Flanders Poppy

Species name: Papaver rhoeas

Common names: corn poppy, corn rose, field poppy, Flanders poppy, red poppy, red weed, coquelicot, and headwark

Geography: Native to Europe. It is known as an agricultural weed. It is believed to have originated in North Africa and Eurasia, contemporary with the development of agriculture. It is believed to have been introduced across Europe through the seed corn of early settlers. The poppy has symbolically been associated with agricultural fertility.

Description: The poppy is an annual flower, generally flowering in late spring, but depending on the weather may also flower at the beginning of autumn. Its seeds can lie dormant for 80 years. The flowers will self-seed for years, but the ground must be disturbed for them to germinate. The poppy has been used medicinally to treat mild pain, insomnia, and poor digestion.

The Poppy Ladies

Moina Belle Michael was born in Georgia in 1869. Moina was a professor at the University of Georgia until the United States entered the war, when she took a leave of absence to volunteer. While volunteering overseas with the YMCA, Moina came across a copy of “In Flanders Fields”, and was inspired to write a response and to wear a red poppy as a sign of her personal pledge to keep faith with those who died. She went on to campaign to have the poppy recognized as an official symbol of remembrance by the American legion.

Inspired by McCrae’s poem and by Moina’s example, Madame Anne Guerin in France also advocated for the use of the poppy as a symbol of remembrance. She was the French secretary of the YMCA and attended the conference at which she saw Moina wearing her poppy. Madame Guerin returned to France and started making and selling silk poppies to raise funds for war orphans in France. She and others travelled and advocated widely for the sale of poppies as symbols of remembrance. Veterans groups overseas in Australia, New Zealand and Canada started to sell artificial poppies produced by the widows and orphans in Northern France.

Col B Scrap of green 8 ply yarn

Col C Scrap of black 8 ply yarn
Body of Poppy

Using Col A make a slip ring

1st round: Ch 3, 10 treble crochet into ring. Pull the slip ring tight to close centre of ring and slip stitch in top

Centre of Poppy

Using Col B: Make slip ring Ch 3, 10 treble crochet into ring. Pull end to close centre of ring and slip stitch in top ch of 3 ch … fasten off.

Finishing: Stamens

Cut 10 x 7cm lengths of yarn and used a smaller hook to attach them like a fringe to the post of each treble on Round 1.

Notes:

The petals are made up of 5 groups of 10 stitches worked over 2 trebles of the first round. However, the first stitch of the 10 trtr groups is only a double treble. This gives a slight indent on the outer edge to make the petal shape.

The green centre is the same as the original pattern (i.e. 10 trebles worked into a slip ring) and then turned over to form a dome, and for the black stamens cut 10 x 7cm lengths of yarn and use a smaller hook to attach them like a fringe to the post of each treble on Round 1.
